Reference: CIA's Information Systems Board (The Briggs Board)

This Board is the result of several things, among them being Mr. Brigg's recent trip and the "new" function within the Planning Staff. I believe it is a positive step-hopefully this Board will generate user requirements (not technical specifications) which can then be "blessed" by the EXCOM and given to the providers. Currently, the providers do not have clear requirements to pursue.

With respect to the six working groups, I suggest the following partial membership:
